In the Spirit of Mary

The Woman I Love

The Woman Whom even God dreamed of
Before the world was made;
The Woman Who, though not priest,
Could yet on Calvary's Hill breathe,
"This is my Body; this is my Blood" —
For none save her gave Him human life.
The Woman Who guides my pen,
Which falters so with words
In telling of the Word.
The Woman Who, in a world of Reds,
Shows forth the blue of hope.
Accept these dried grapes of thoughts
From this poor author, who has no wine
And with Cana's magic and thy Son's
Power
Work a miracle and save a soul —
Forgetting not my own.

—Fulton J. Sheen

Dedicated to Two Great Leaders

HIS HOLINESS POPE JOHN XXIII

"... That all may be one;
Thou in me and I in Thee."

JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY
President of U.S.A.

"... one nation under God indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

"Behold I have given thee to be the light of the Gentiles, that thou mayest be My salvation even to the farthest part of the earth."

Through the Ecumenical Council Pope John XXIII strives to unite all churches for the greater honor and glory of God. The effort should produce concomitant fruits of peace and harmony among nations in these turbulent times.

Inspired by these ideals we have adapted our school year towards this great effort: action towards unity — in faith, truth, spirit, and practice. This 1961 CROWN is dedicated to the two greatest leaders of our time: Pope John XXIII, and President John F. Kennedy who had the courage to sacrifice the leisure he could afford and dedicate himself to the people of his country; to overcome bigotry for the glory of the Church; and to shine as an example to the world of true and sublime principles. GOD BLESS THEM BOTH!

One in Faith

One in Truth

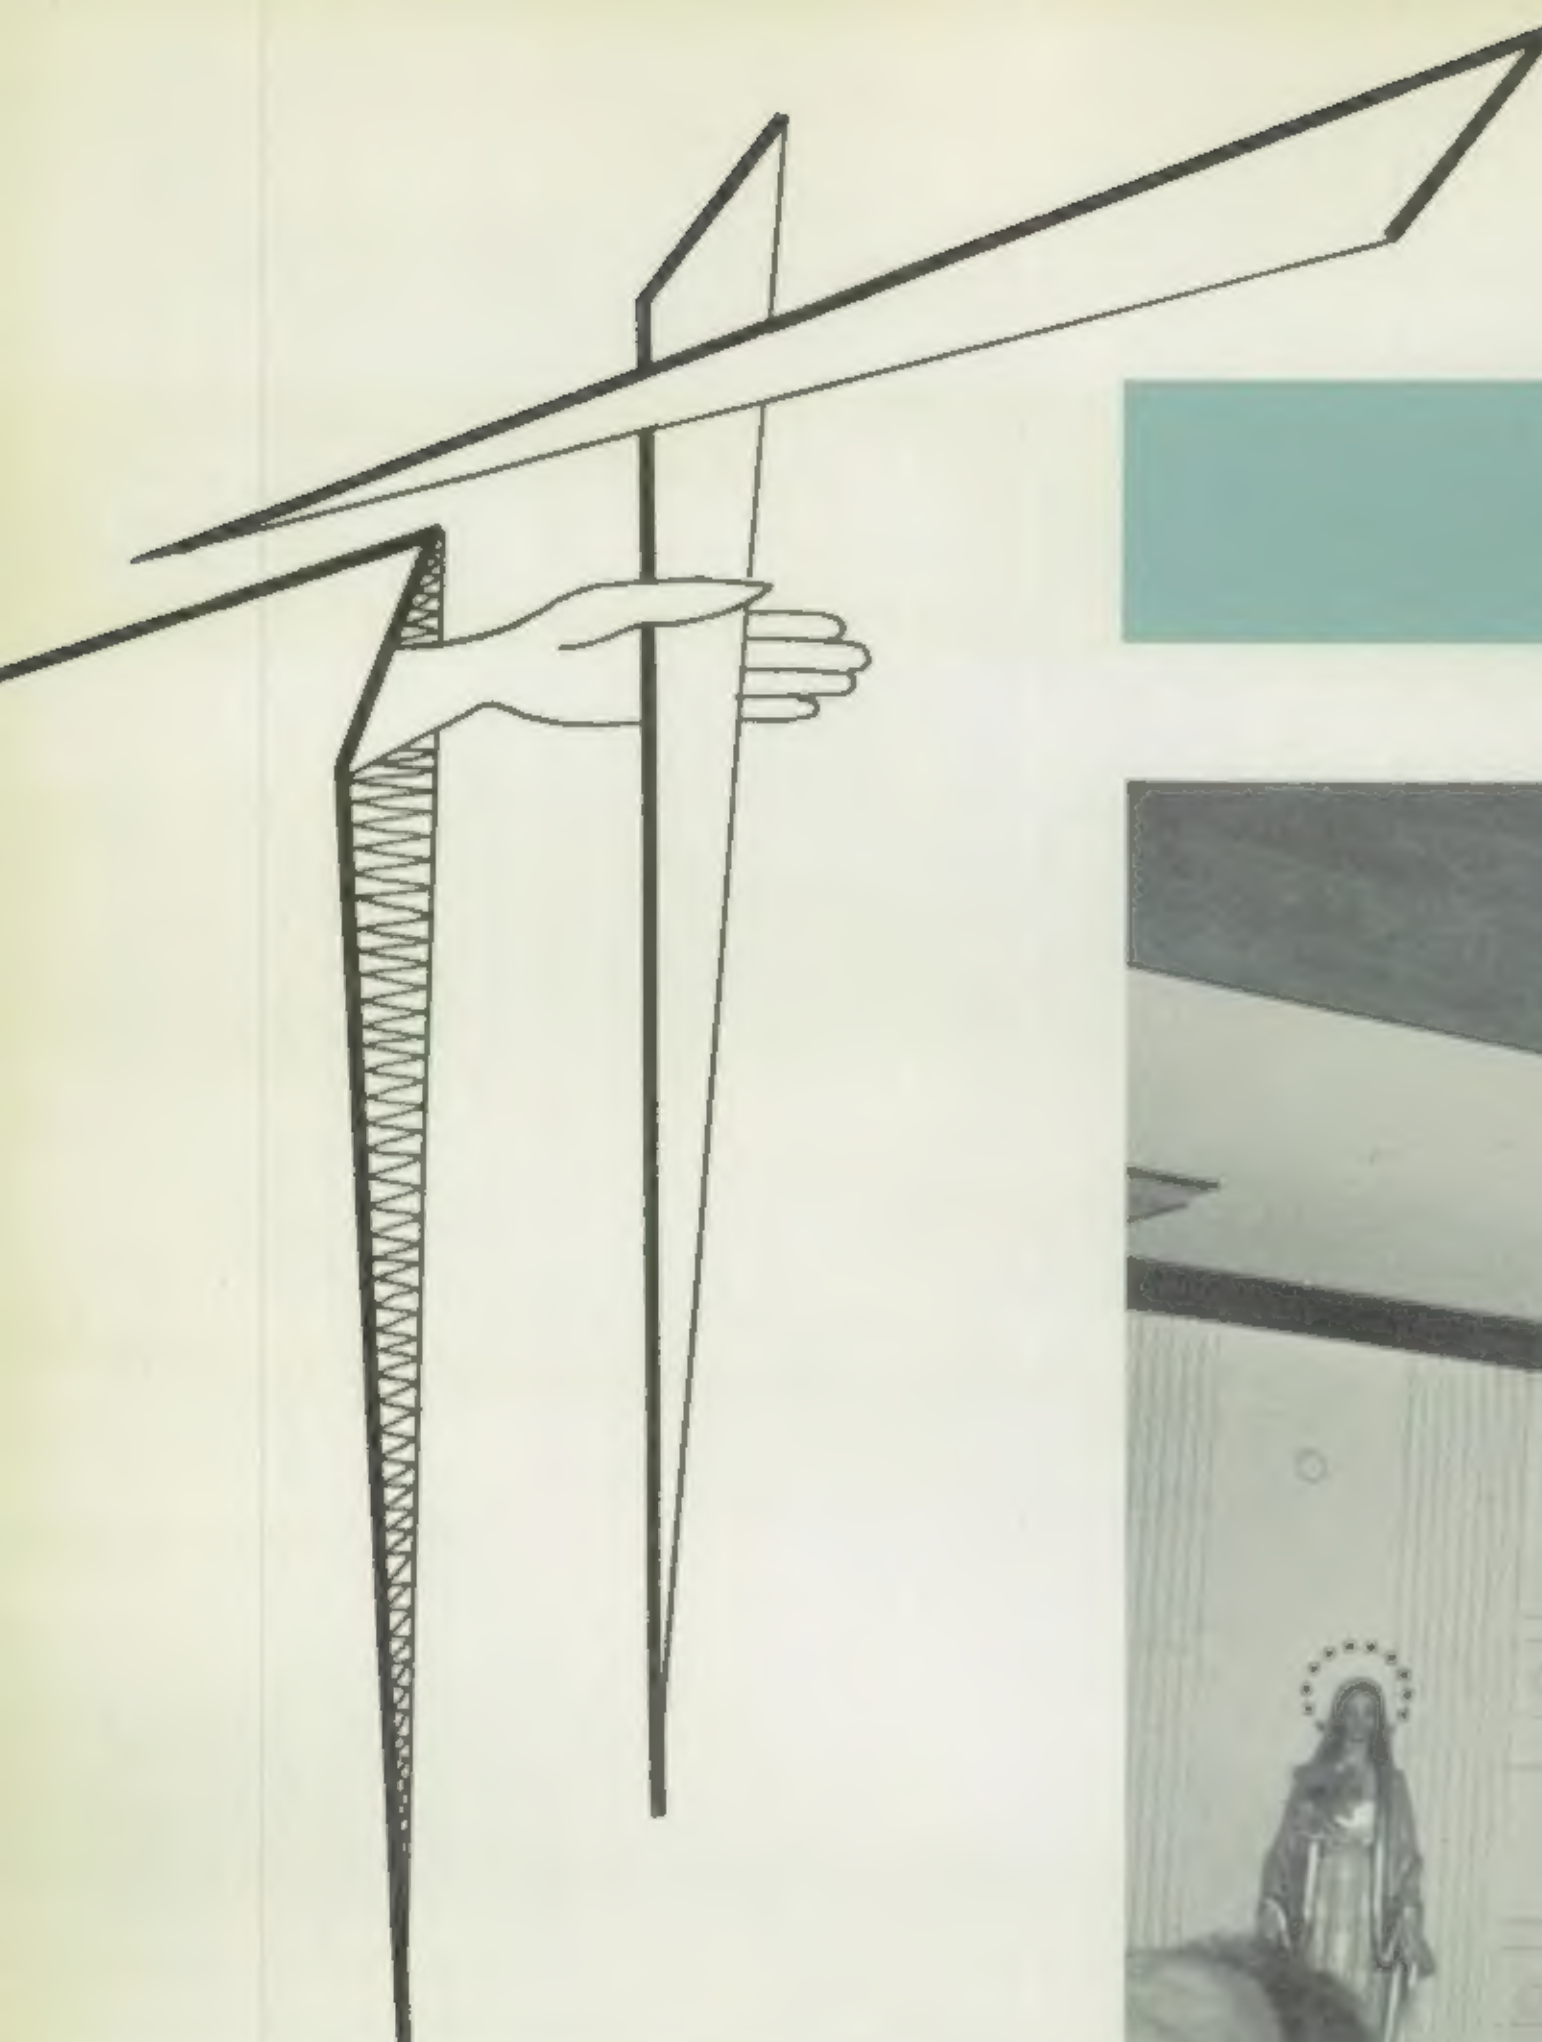

One in Spirit

One in Practice

Faith supplements knowledge gained by a limited intellect. Regina High students are favored by having Church directors in the persons of its Bishops, priests, and spiritual directors, its watchful administration and devoted faculty. Once gained and maintained, it is by faith that poetry, as well as devotion, soars above this dull earth; that imagination breaks through its clouds, breathes a purer air, and lives in a softer light. —Giles

Auxiliary Bishops of Detroit

His Excellency
the Most Reverend
JOHN F. DEARDEN, D.D.
Archbishop of Detroit

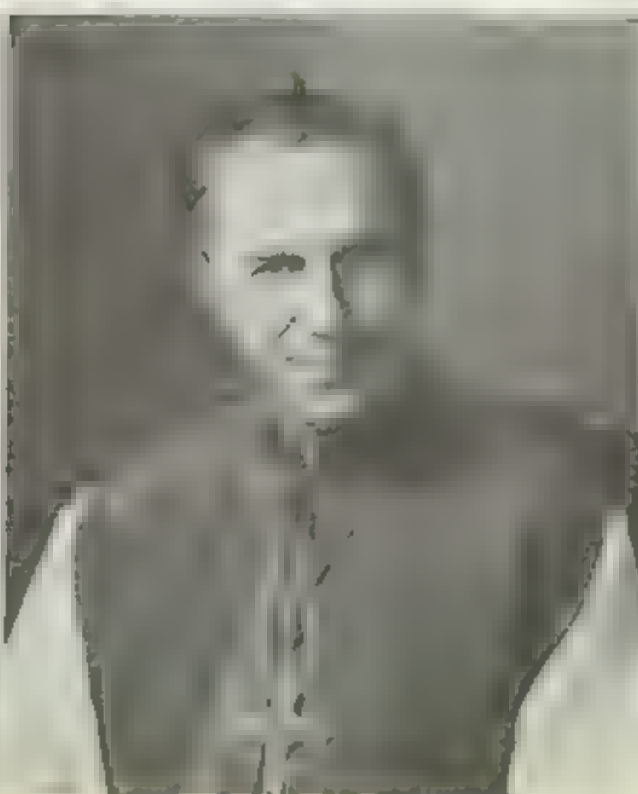

"When it pleased Him . . . to reveal His Son in me, that I might preach Him among the Gentiles, immediately I condescended not to flesh and blood."

—Gal. I. 62.

The Diocesan Bishops realize full well the responsibilities and duties charged to them. They can easily say with St. Augustine that the kingdom of heaven asks no other price than one self. It is worth that price as you know very well. Give it and you will gain that Kingdom.

Convent Echoes

Spirituality is fed by religious services. The spirit of God permeated Regina convent because of services rendered the Sisters by Society of Mary priests.

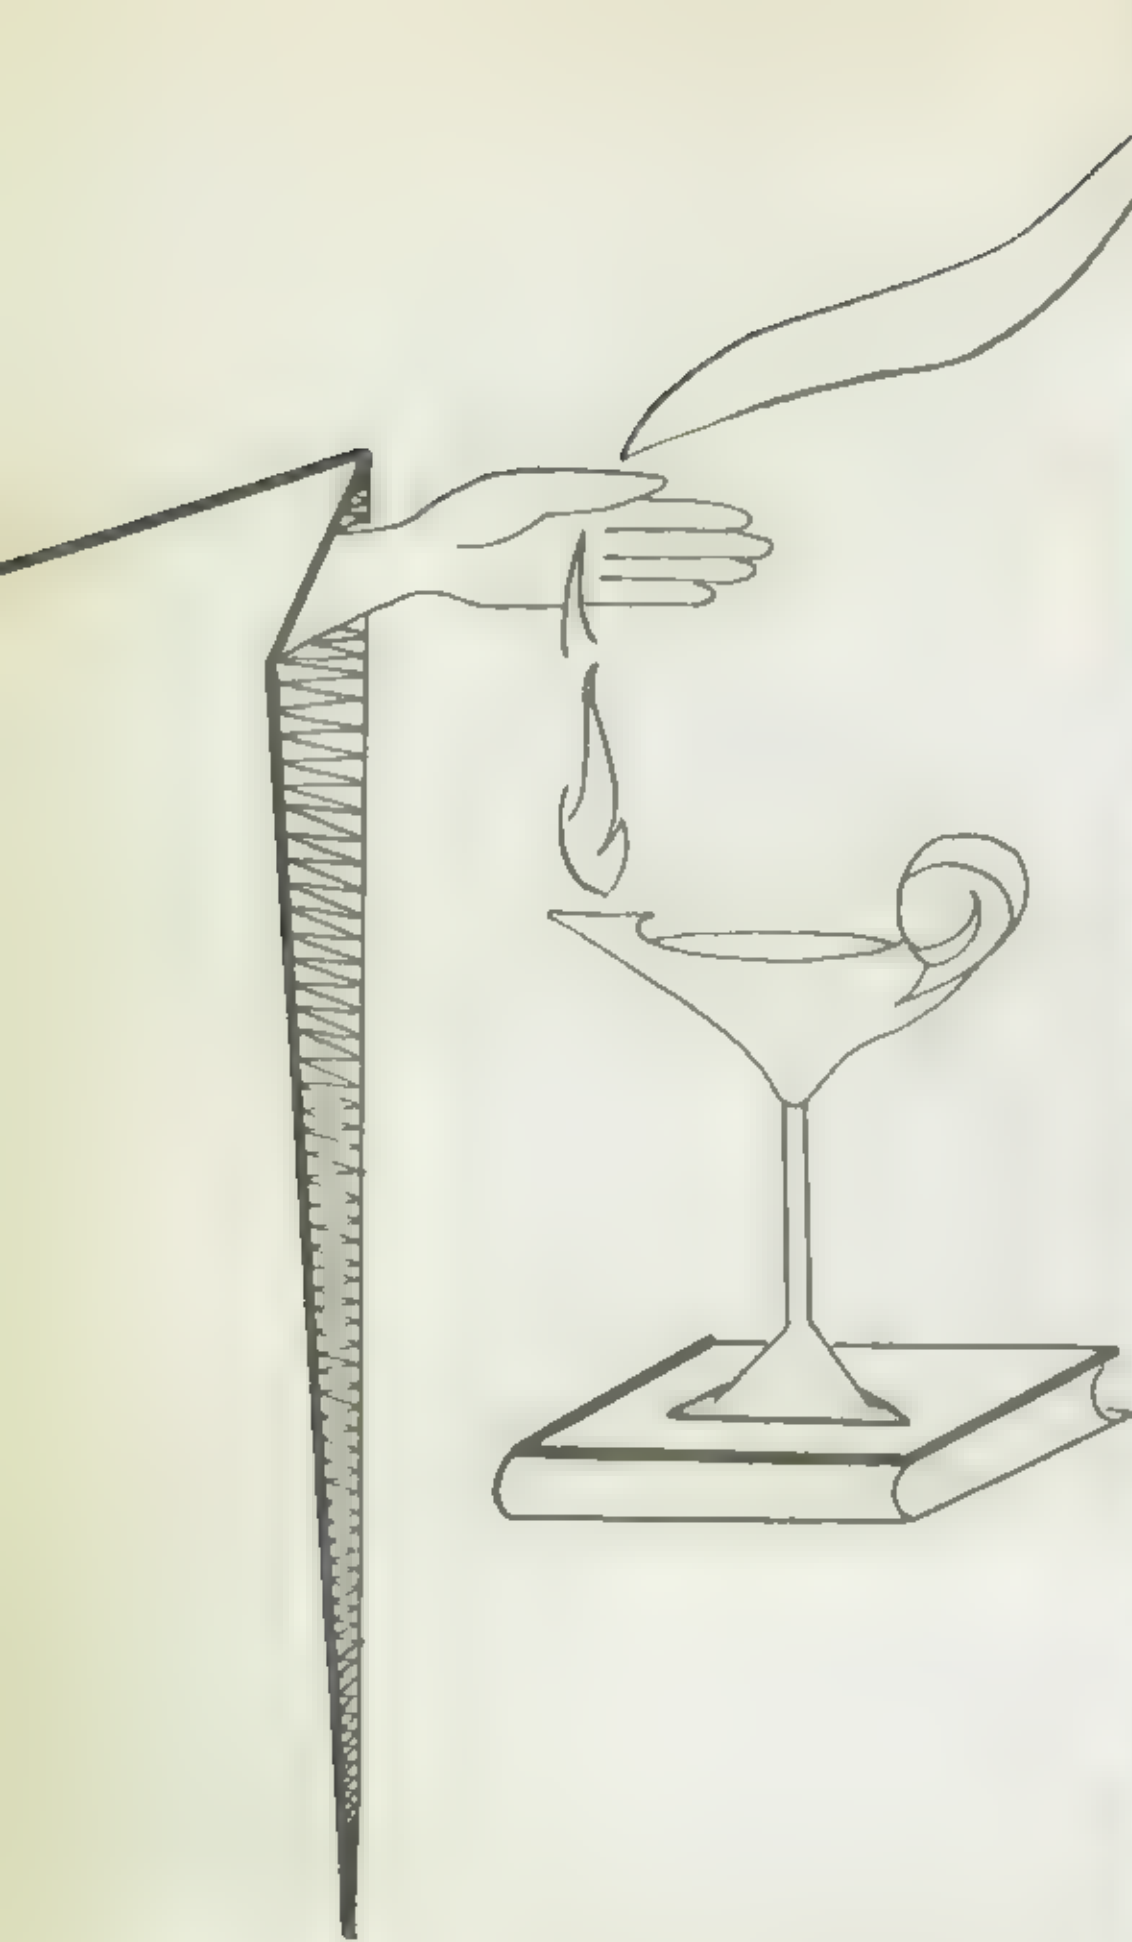

Leading the procession, Brother Andre Albert, S.M., precedes Rev. Paul Lavoie with the Paschal candle, flanked by Bro. (now Rev.) Robert Langlois, S.M., and Francis Lavin. In the candlelight procession are Sisters Mary Josaphat, Bernadette, Seraphia, Raphael, and Godwin.

The Very Rev. Francis C. Frechette officiates at the reposition of the Blessed Sacrament on Holy Thursday. He is assisted by Rev. Francis Grispino, Bros. Francis Lavin and Thomas Gardiner.

Regina Marial Salve Mater . . . resounds from 40 glorifying voices of Sisters as Sister Mary Bernadette places a crown upon Mary's brow during May. She is attended by Sister Mary Josaphat.

Unity of knowledge may be obtained only through truth. Scholastic effort at Regina High is broad enough to cover a multitude of facts from which others may be deduced. Truth is a queen who has her eternal throne in heaven, and her seat of empire in the heart of God. It is the band of union and the basis of human happiness. Without this virtue there is no reliance upon language, no confidence in friendship, no security in promises and oaths. —Bossuet

Religion - Bread of Life

There is a great deal we never think of calling religion that is still fruit unto God, and garnered by him in the harvest. The fruits of the Spirit are love, joy, peace, long suffering, gentleness, patience, goodness. If these fruits are found in any form, being honest and true besides, you bring forth truth unto God.

—Robert Collyer.

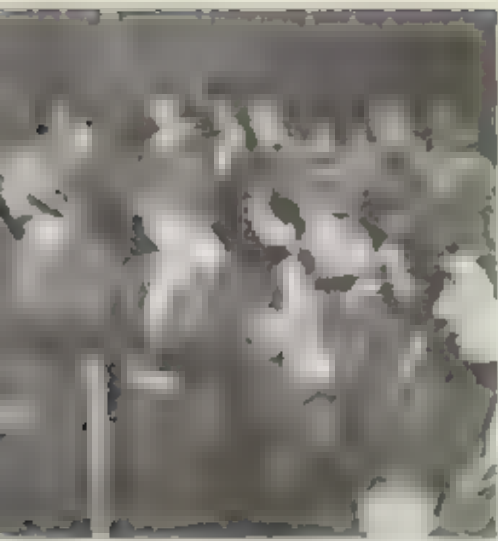

Daily Mass — an action leading to the pursuit of all that is high and holy. Its foundation is faith, its action, works; its purpose, holiness, its aim, obedience to God in improvement of self, and benevolence to men.

We are learning so fast in Masonry, that it is almost marred in the breast of stone. Religion does the same with nature.

Let P be a n -dimensional polyhedron in \mathbb{R}^n . Let \mathcal{P} be a class of this

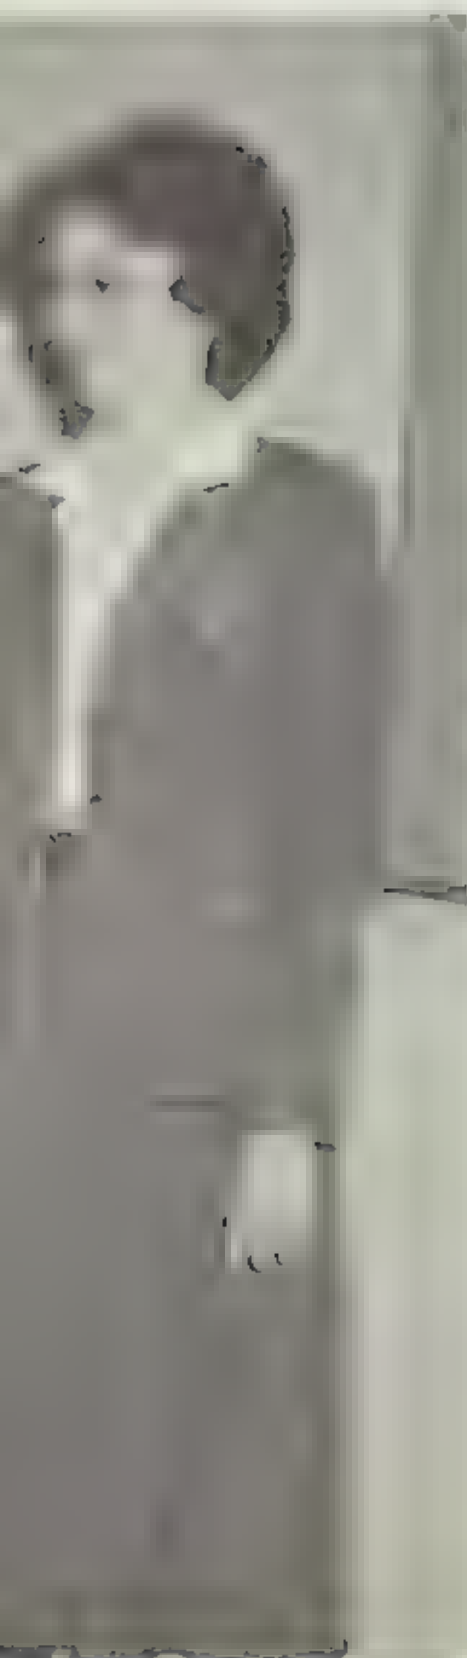

John Edgar Hoover read excerpts from a pamphlet to prove the point. Attentive bystanders are Barbara Ribarsky, Carolyn F. Egan, Corinne Cora and Dorothy L. Horvath.

Rev. F. Frechette, S.M., girls chaplain, distributes the Holy Eucharist to frequent participants.

Religion is love, broad and all comprising as God's love; it looks to the moral worth of man; it is light and love, and virtue and peace, unadulterated and immaculate. Rev W King impresses his Religion III class with the practical aspects of the study.

Class discussion enables Rev. D. Devine to determine the extent of knowledge his teaching has produced. A flip of his index cards, and Father has his next "volunteer" in the Religion III class.

At interviews with Father, girls present their problems. Pat Spoor brings out a hearty chuckle from Rev. W. Petron as she enumerates her ambitions

English -

Servant

and Master

Language is properly the servant of thought, but not infrequently its master. The conceptions of a feeble writer are greatly modified by his style; a man of vigorous powers makes his style bend to his conceptions; a fact compatible enough with the acknowledgment of Dryden, that a rhyme had often helped him to an idea - W. B. Clulow
The language denotes the man. A coarse or refined character finds its expression naturally in a coarse or refined phraseology - Bovee

English III has a dancing moment. Sue Silvester and Barbara Staszkowski transfer their dancing from class to the stage in their performance of Overtures at the Genesis Festival.

This may look like Regina's own private disc-jockey show, but Karen Campanella, Kelly Kelly, and Sister Catherine Siena are setting up controls for period radio broadcasts. Show tunes also sound good through private earphones.

Carol Szymanski, Judy Baby, Darlene Zometsky, and Jo Lynn VanDorn agree that demonstrative pronouns can really be demonstrative when it comes to grammar in an English class.

Language - Understanding Others

As we go back in history, language becomes more picturesque, until its infancy, when it is all poetry; or all spiritual facts are represented by natural symbols. The same symbols are found to make the original elements of all languages approach each other in passages of the greatest eloquence and power. — Emerson

A man who is ignorant of foreign languages is also ignorant of his own language. Language is the armory of the human mind, and at once contains the trophies of its past, and the weapons of future conquests. — Coleridge

Salve Maria! Latin II students enjoy using the telephone. Proving this little known fact, MaryAnn Manko and Mary Rotarius carry on a conversation in Latin while Pat Carra, Pat Konefke, Judy Olivio, Nancy Heymann, Karen Rousseau, and Maryanne Gayda listen in.

Response to Chemical Reactions

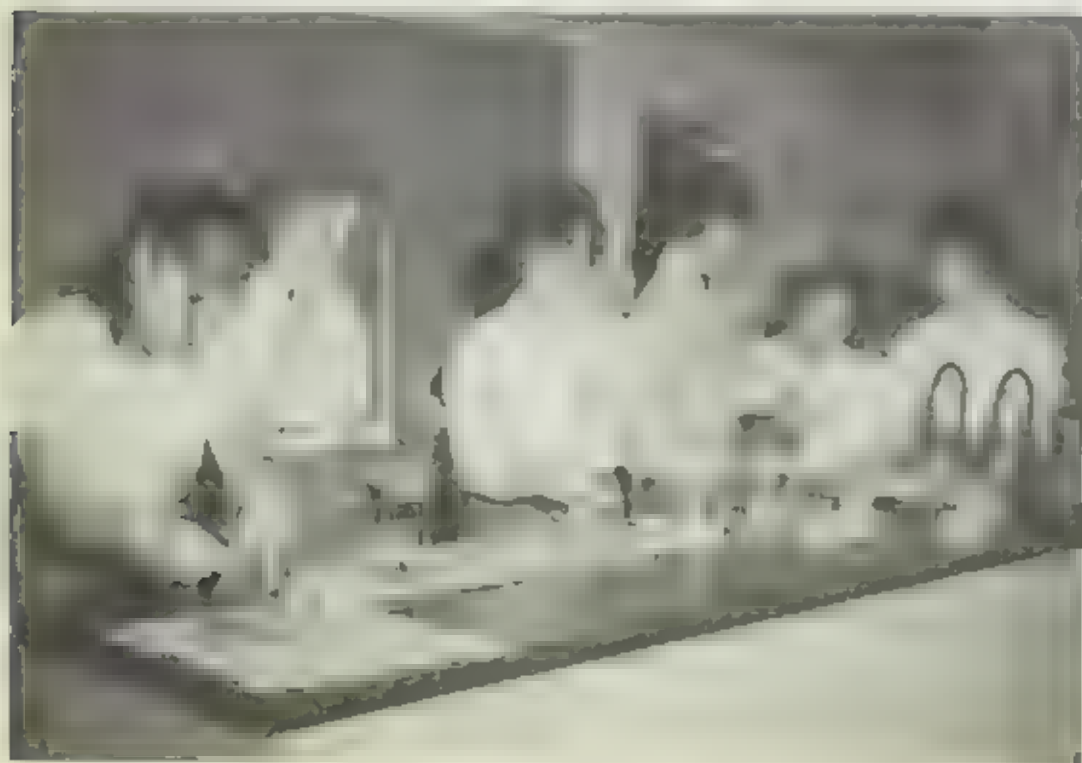

"Success produces confidence, confidence relaxes industry, and negligence ruins the work which accuracy had produced" Chemistry students are aware that over-confidence in performing experiments may prove costly in many ways if negligence creeps in. Concentration must become a habit in the lab

What will be the result? Phyllis Mueller, carefully diluting a solution, and Karen Diehl, grinding down a solid, demonstrate the lab technique so important to performing Chemistry experiments

Accuracy and precision count. In testing the solubility of a substance Judy Slimko uses the centrifuge, while Carol Nowicki has the tedious job of weighing out small amounts of chemicals. And every girl for herself, are: Phyllis Stemmelen, Kathy Steiner, and Jan Rollins

Sue Mach and Sister M Bernadette enjoy watching the antics of Roby the Robot. Roby is operated by natural gas and is demonstrated by Bob Bronsky, a representative of the gas company.

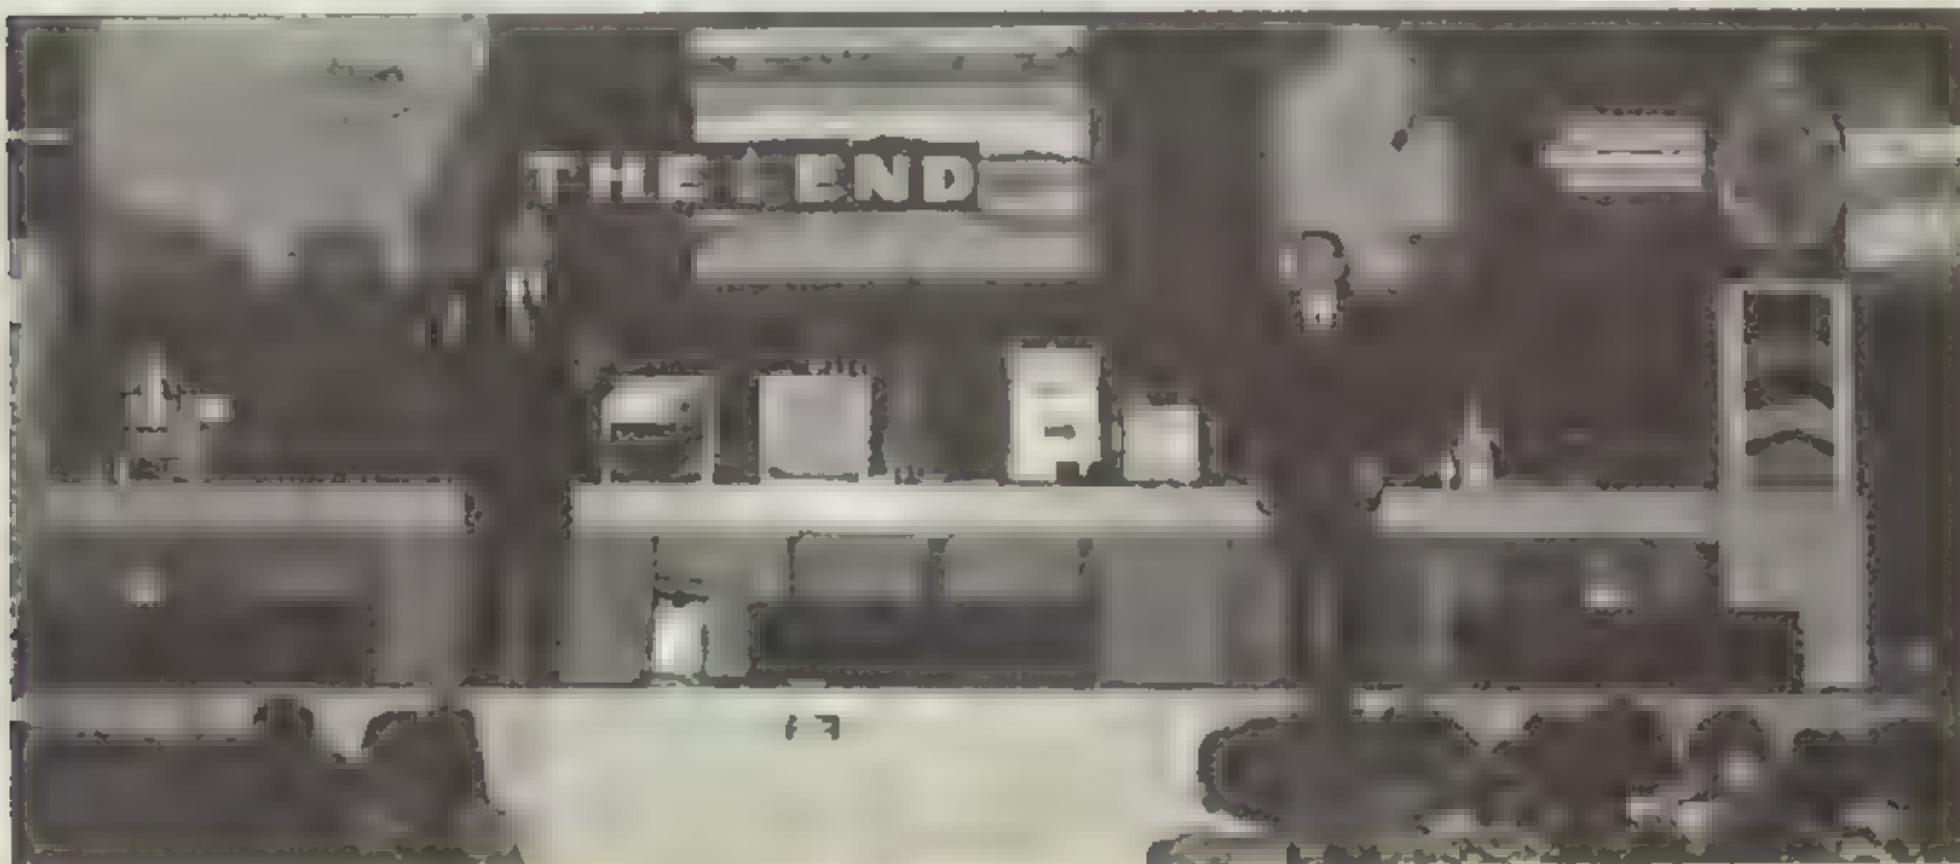

"Gasarama," presented annually by the Michigan Gas & Electric Co. Company to Regina, proved to be very intriguing. Everything from robots to stoves can be run on gas as is demonstrated to them by Billson, Betty Kmiec, Mary Lou Brooks, Kathy Schmidt, and Elaine DeBacker.

Kathy Schmidt views the marvels of gas.

A round of applause followed the push of the "Gasarama" program. Sincere thanks go to the Gas Company and an invitation to revisit Regina again next year.

One World--United in Thought and Culture

History is a sacred kind of writing, because truth is essential to it, and where truth is, there God himself is, so far as truth is concerned.

The student is to read history actively and not passively; to esteem his own life the text, and books the commentary. Thus compelled, the muse of history will utter oracles as never to those who do not respect themselves. — Emerson

Old World Russia is the topic of discussion in this Modern History class. Ann Nardone shows the similarity of a passage in her book to a point on the map while her assistant Barb Belloli

Agrees and their contemporaries Pat Konefke, Nancy Heymoss, Bev Clark and Mary Hummer look on Portraying people in varied walks of life, Doris Bonne, Kathy Schmidt, Mary Ann Wyllie, Virginia Wallace, and Jean Lafrate show the different phases of reasoning by means of a humorous skit during an educational assembly. Barb Chmura and Fran Libiszewski tune in to find out what's going on

The scales of justice are balanced in an American history class during the portrayal of a Michigan court scene. 'Judge', Jackie Wroblewski waits attentively as Irene Mollicone, 'Notary Public', swears in Judy Groth as a 'witness', while Lucier Rose Acierno, confers with Mary Ann Hines the second 'witness' Kathy Lualdi acts as 'court recorder'.

Discussing local and national economics, Kitty Kelly, Carol Henn, and Bev Green formulate current data while Barb Lendzion, Verne Kaminski, and Mary Weigand express their views on world events.

Sister Mary Danuta gives final tips to panelists who appeared on "Quiz 'Em", a current events TV program. Ann Marie Zamon, Rose Acierno, Carol Campanelli, and Veronica Kaminski's research and efforts proved victorious when they triumphed over Ypsilanti High School to bring home honor and a television set to Regina

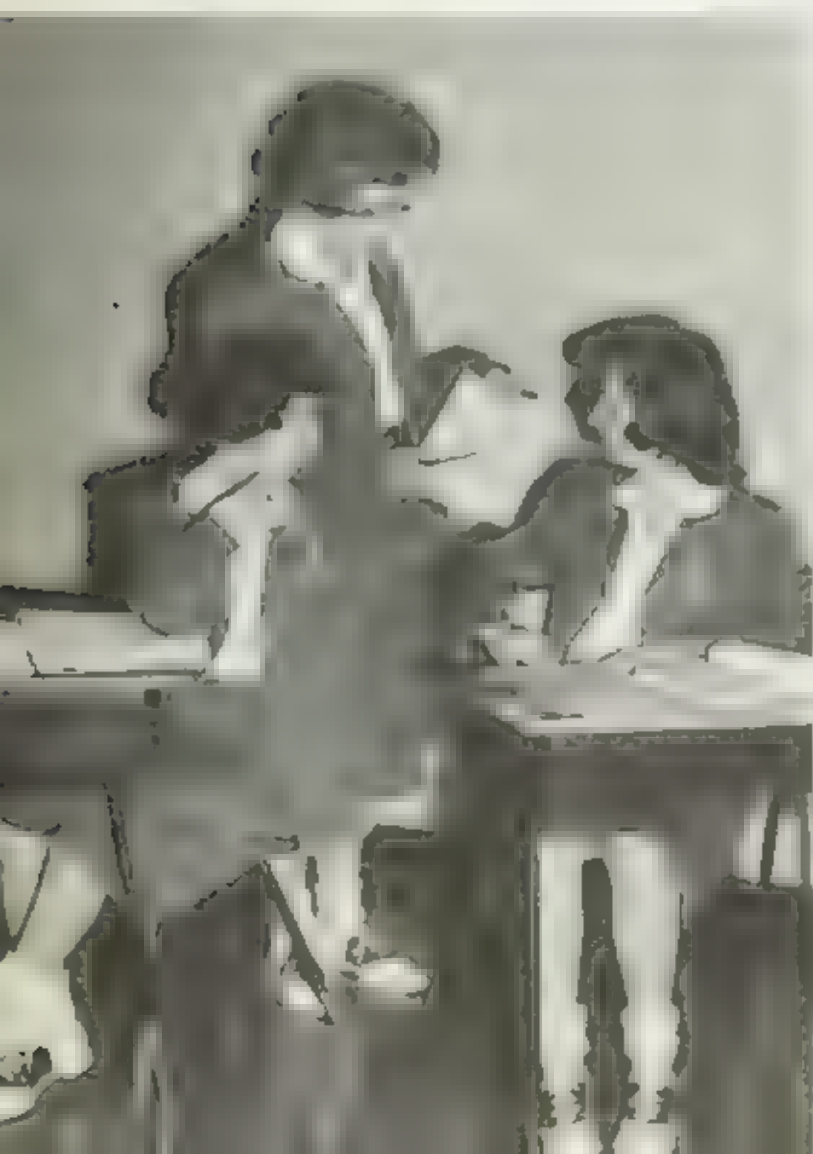

Numbers do Figure

Learning is the dictionary, but mathematics is the grammar of science. Eventually, all becomes clear. Depth beyond Depth is revealed suddenly — the Bvss and the Abyss You will see — as one might see the transit of Venus or the nearness of Mars — a quantity passing through infinity and changing its sign from plus to minus

Emerson.

Need more explanation of the mystery of "x" and "y"? Algebra I students Paula Grauer, Louise Stempnik, Jackie Raven, and Mary Ann Pulice listen as Judith Roumsh explains and solves the mystery.

"Circles may have angles." This is just what Geometry students Barbara Fryling, Joanne Levine, Diane Bellack, and Judy Noe have found, and also the whys and hows about them.

Charts and graphs give visual representation of many facts as pointed out by Sue Ruessman. Peggy Santoni, Georgina Fileccia, Darlene Zometsky, Ruth Emmendorfer, Nancy Pawczuk, Lois Carnaghie, Cheryl Barylski, and Jo Lynn Van Dorn compare their charts with the examples given in the book.

Three heads are better than one in deciphering the mysteries associated with the study of Parabolas. Cynthia Walters, Sue Schwenter, and Kathy Slivik concentrate on the solving of such a problem in their Advanced Algebra class.

LIBRARY

What's new? Many interesting and informative books help Reginites answer this question. Christine Zajac, Lilliane Rogalia peruse the new additions while Gay Nickowski's book attracts Susan Peters.

Books are Treasures; Found when Sought

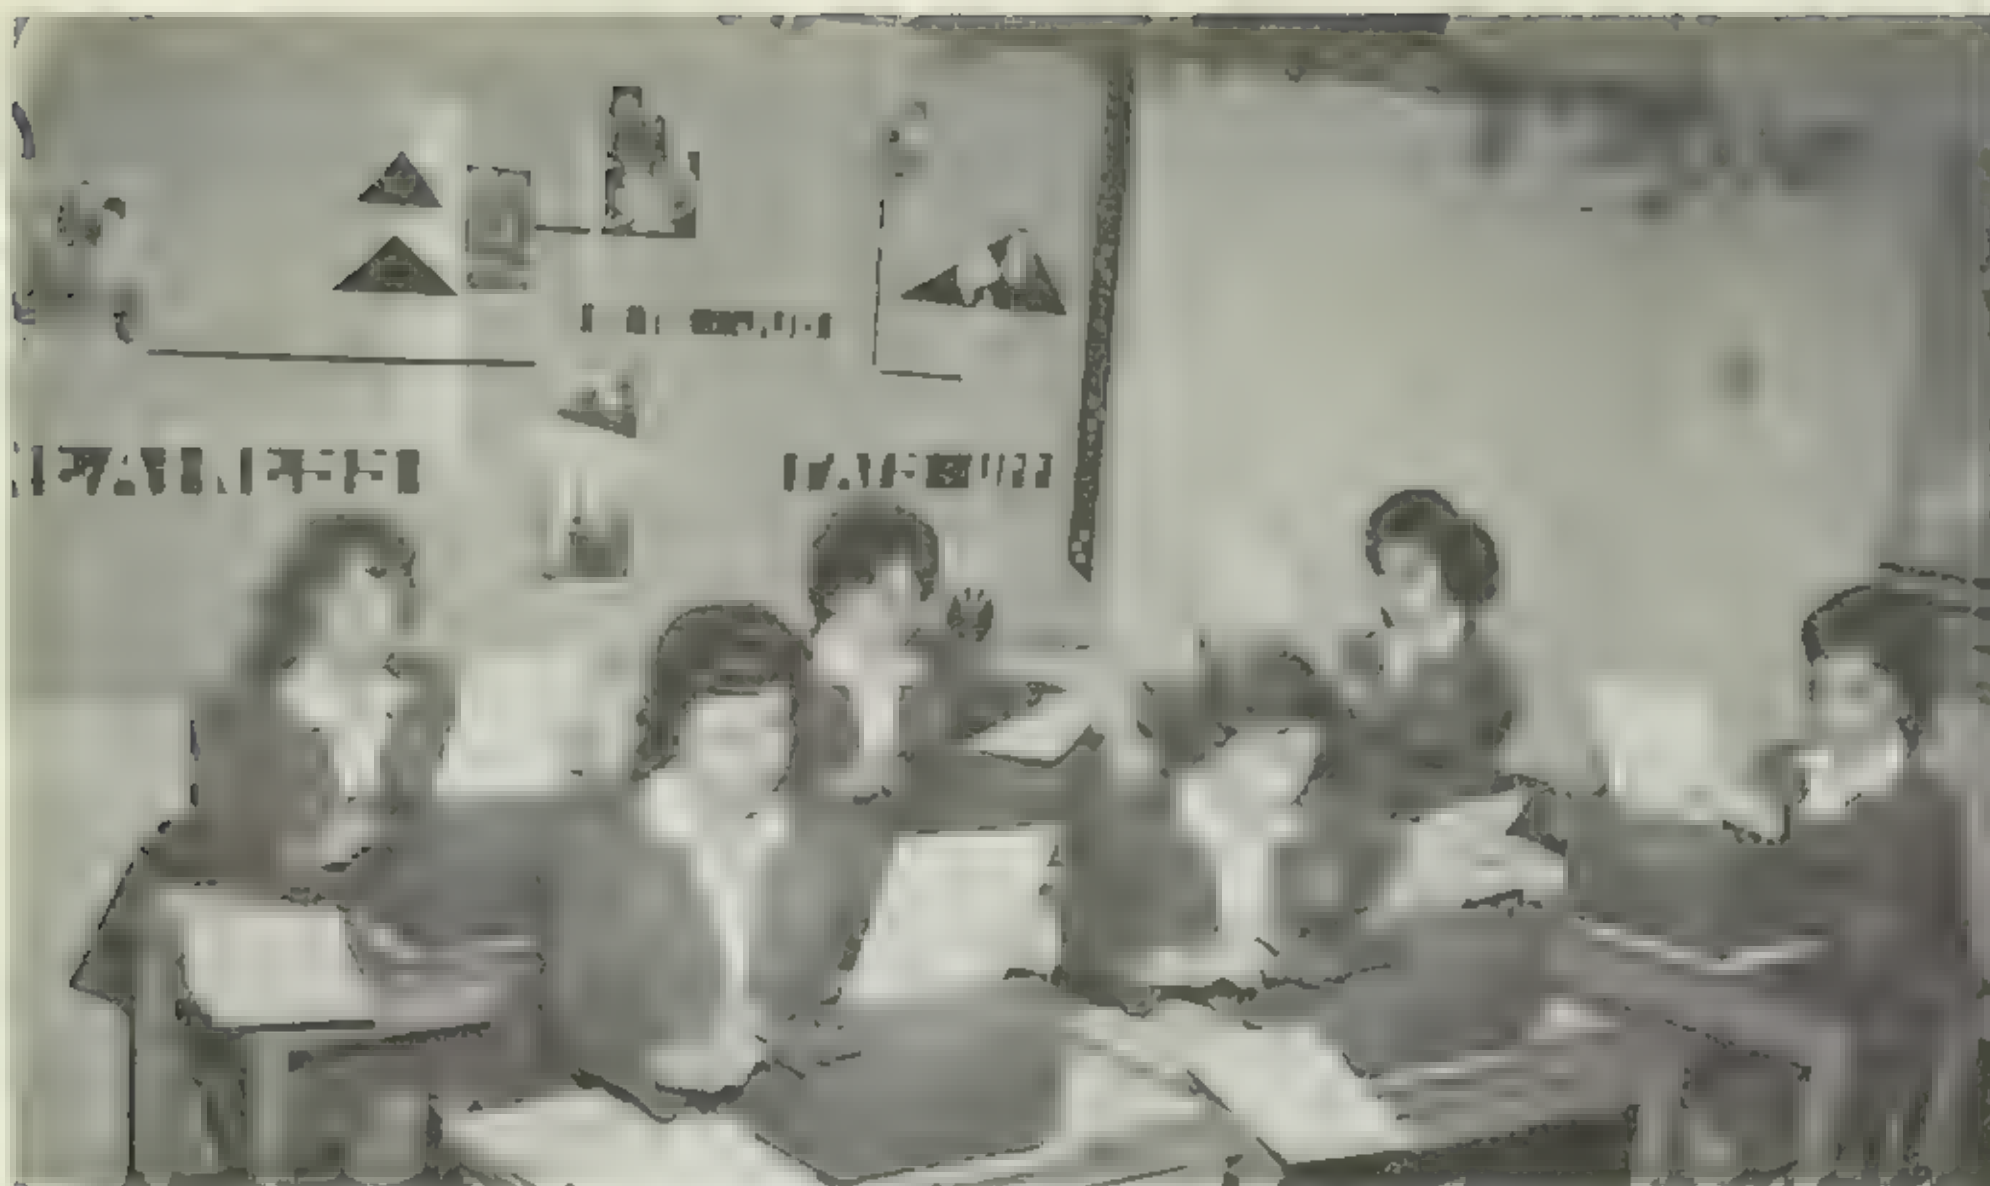

Books, books, and more books! Library aides, Cathy Maier, Frances Lucchese, and Deana Iaconelli must overcome the temptation to read them as they help to replace the day's returns.

Patience is only one faculty; earnestness the devotion of all the faculties. Earnestness is the cause of patience; it gives endurance, overcomes pain, strengthens weakness, braves dangers, sustains hope, makes light of difficulties, and lessens the sense of weariness in overcoming them.—Bovee.

Transferring entries from ledgers and columnar journals to work sheets is quite an assignment for Bookkeeping students: Mary Ann Albrecht, Carrie Yokum, Darleen Stefani, and Shirley Vasquez. They are really trying to balance their books.

Talent is found in abundance in this family. Carol Campanelli admires the sketch of her baby brother which is being done by her artist sister, Karen.

The magic of art . . .

Art brings us nearer to the Infinite, one of the forms of which it manifests to us. God is the source of all beauty, as of all truth, of all religion, of all morality. The most exalted object of art, therefore, is to reveal in its own manner the sentiment of the Infinite.—Victor Cousin

Manners Beget Poise

"We thank Thee, Father, for Thy gifts . . ." We thank our Heavenly Father for every manifestation of His Providence over us . . . we thank Him for all the experiences which make His gifts pleasurable to us while they satisfy our needs . . . we thank Him, for they help us to appreciate all things, and to enfold the whole world with a blessing.

Mm-mm-mm! Smell those cookies. The halls of Regina fill with delightful aromas of baking as Lynn Stanbridge removes her festive holiday cookies. Co-worker in this rewarding chore, Mary McDonnell, looks down with pride at their accomplishment.

Food is Vitality

The joy of being able to prepare her own food is very rewarding to any girl. Regina girls learn proper manners, arrangement, table setting and many other graces which make any meal a pleasure.

Entertainment is an important subject in Foods Class. A buffet is put on by members of the class and then enjoyed by everyone, especially Sharon Steffen, Kathy O'Connor, Marilyn Spanske, Pat Painter, and Judy Emmendorfer.

Assistant hostesses, Kathy McKeown and Sharon Anckaert, show Drema Whitt the shamrock cake prepared by other girls in the class while hostess, Mary Posch, looks on. The girls designed the buffet setting which was a St. Patrick's day motif.

Back for a second helping is Kathy O'Connor but Jan Rollins and Pat Blackut are the hors d'oeuvres for the first time. Joan Marlow, Pat Gosinski, Louise Lehnke, and Lorraine Kanas are well on their way in taking their choice for both a nutritious and delicious meal.

The annual fashion show was truly a sight to behold with a variety of many colorful dresses. Sharon Meakin, Diane Krupa, Peggy Kretsch, Corrine Casnerker, Betty Boye and Joan Marecki. Their hair styles and accessories complement their dress dresses.

Appearance

Determines Opinion

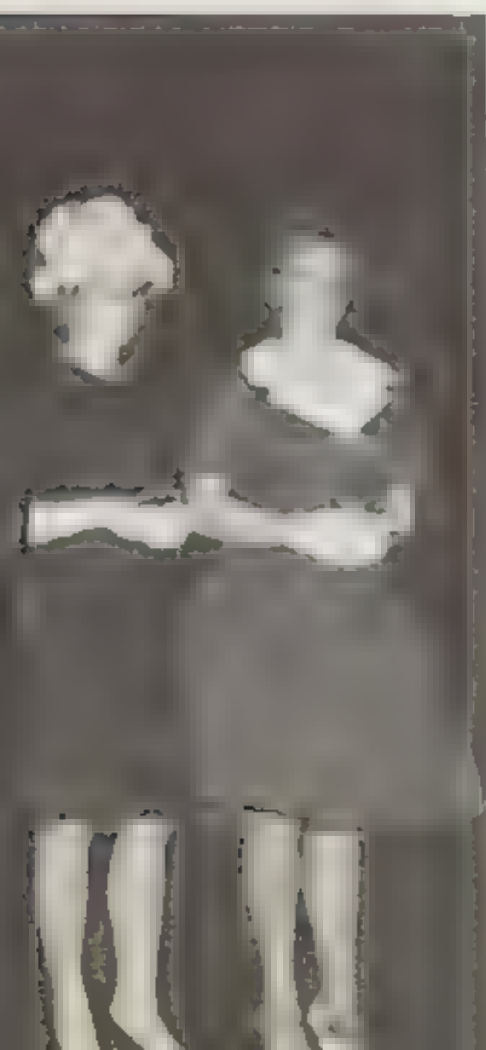

A neat appearance and propriety in dress radiates a wholesome atmosphere in company and are reflected in appreciative companionship. Proper appearance also adds to the acquisition of poise and grace in bearing.

Prizes are given not only for the beauty of the creation but also for the perfection of the work. Rewarded for their tireless patience and exactness are Diane Kahoun, Jane Reed, Diane Santavicea, Mary Saxon and Mary In Vloot.

Stepping into the world of fashion is Jane Reed, one of Regina's many talented models. Wearing her own creation, Jane shows a pace-setter for the spring of '61.

The ten best-dressed seamstresses at Regina are delighted with their talents. They are, Darlene Dembek, Elaine Ludzski, Sharon Harvey, Pat Johnson, Jeanette Kennedy, Darlene Kozka, Nancy Majewski, Carol Nelson, and Sansaterra, and Barbara Teiske.

What the Best Dressed Girl Wears

Pins and needles . . . needles and pins! Another busy day drives tedium away in the clothing class. While Sharon Gardner, Christine Bojaneczyk, Margie McKay, and Kathy Howell lay out their patterns, other students are adding the final touches to their new fashions. Joan Koch presses out her seams.

Regina's modern facilities and equipment provides ample room and opportunity for these industrious seamstresses: Marilyn Satawa, Marilyn Savage, Mary Jo Vloet, Mary Kay Adamo, Vicki Bush, and Kathie Ricker. Carefully stitching their pieces of material together at the sewing machines are Ann Thornton, Sue Kuneth, Pat McKinley, Jane Reed, and Diane Santavicca.

Proper Dress

Enhances Personality

So great is the effect of neatness upon man, that it extends even to his moral character. Virtue never dwelt long with vice, nor do I believe there ever was a person scrupulously attentive to cleanliness who was a consummate villain. Beauty commonly produces love, but neatness preserves it. Age itself is not unamiable while it is preserved clean and unsullied; it is with pleasure we can look upon cleanliness.

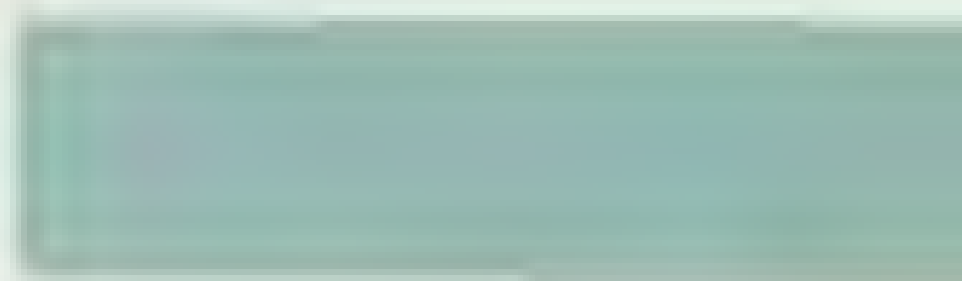

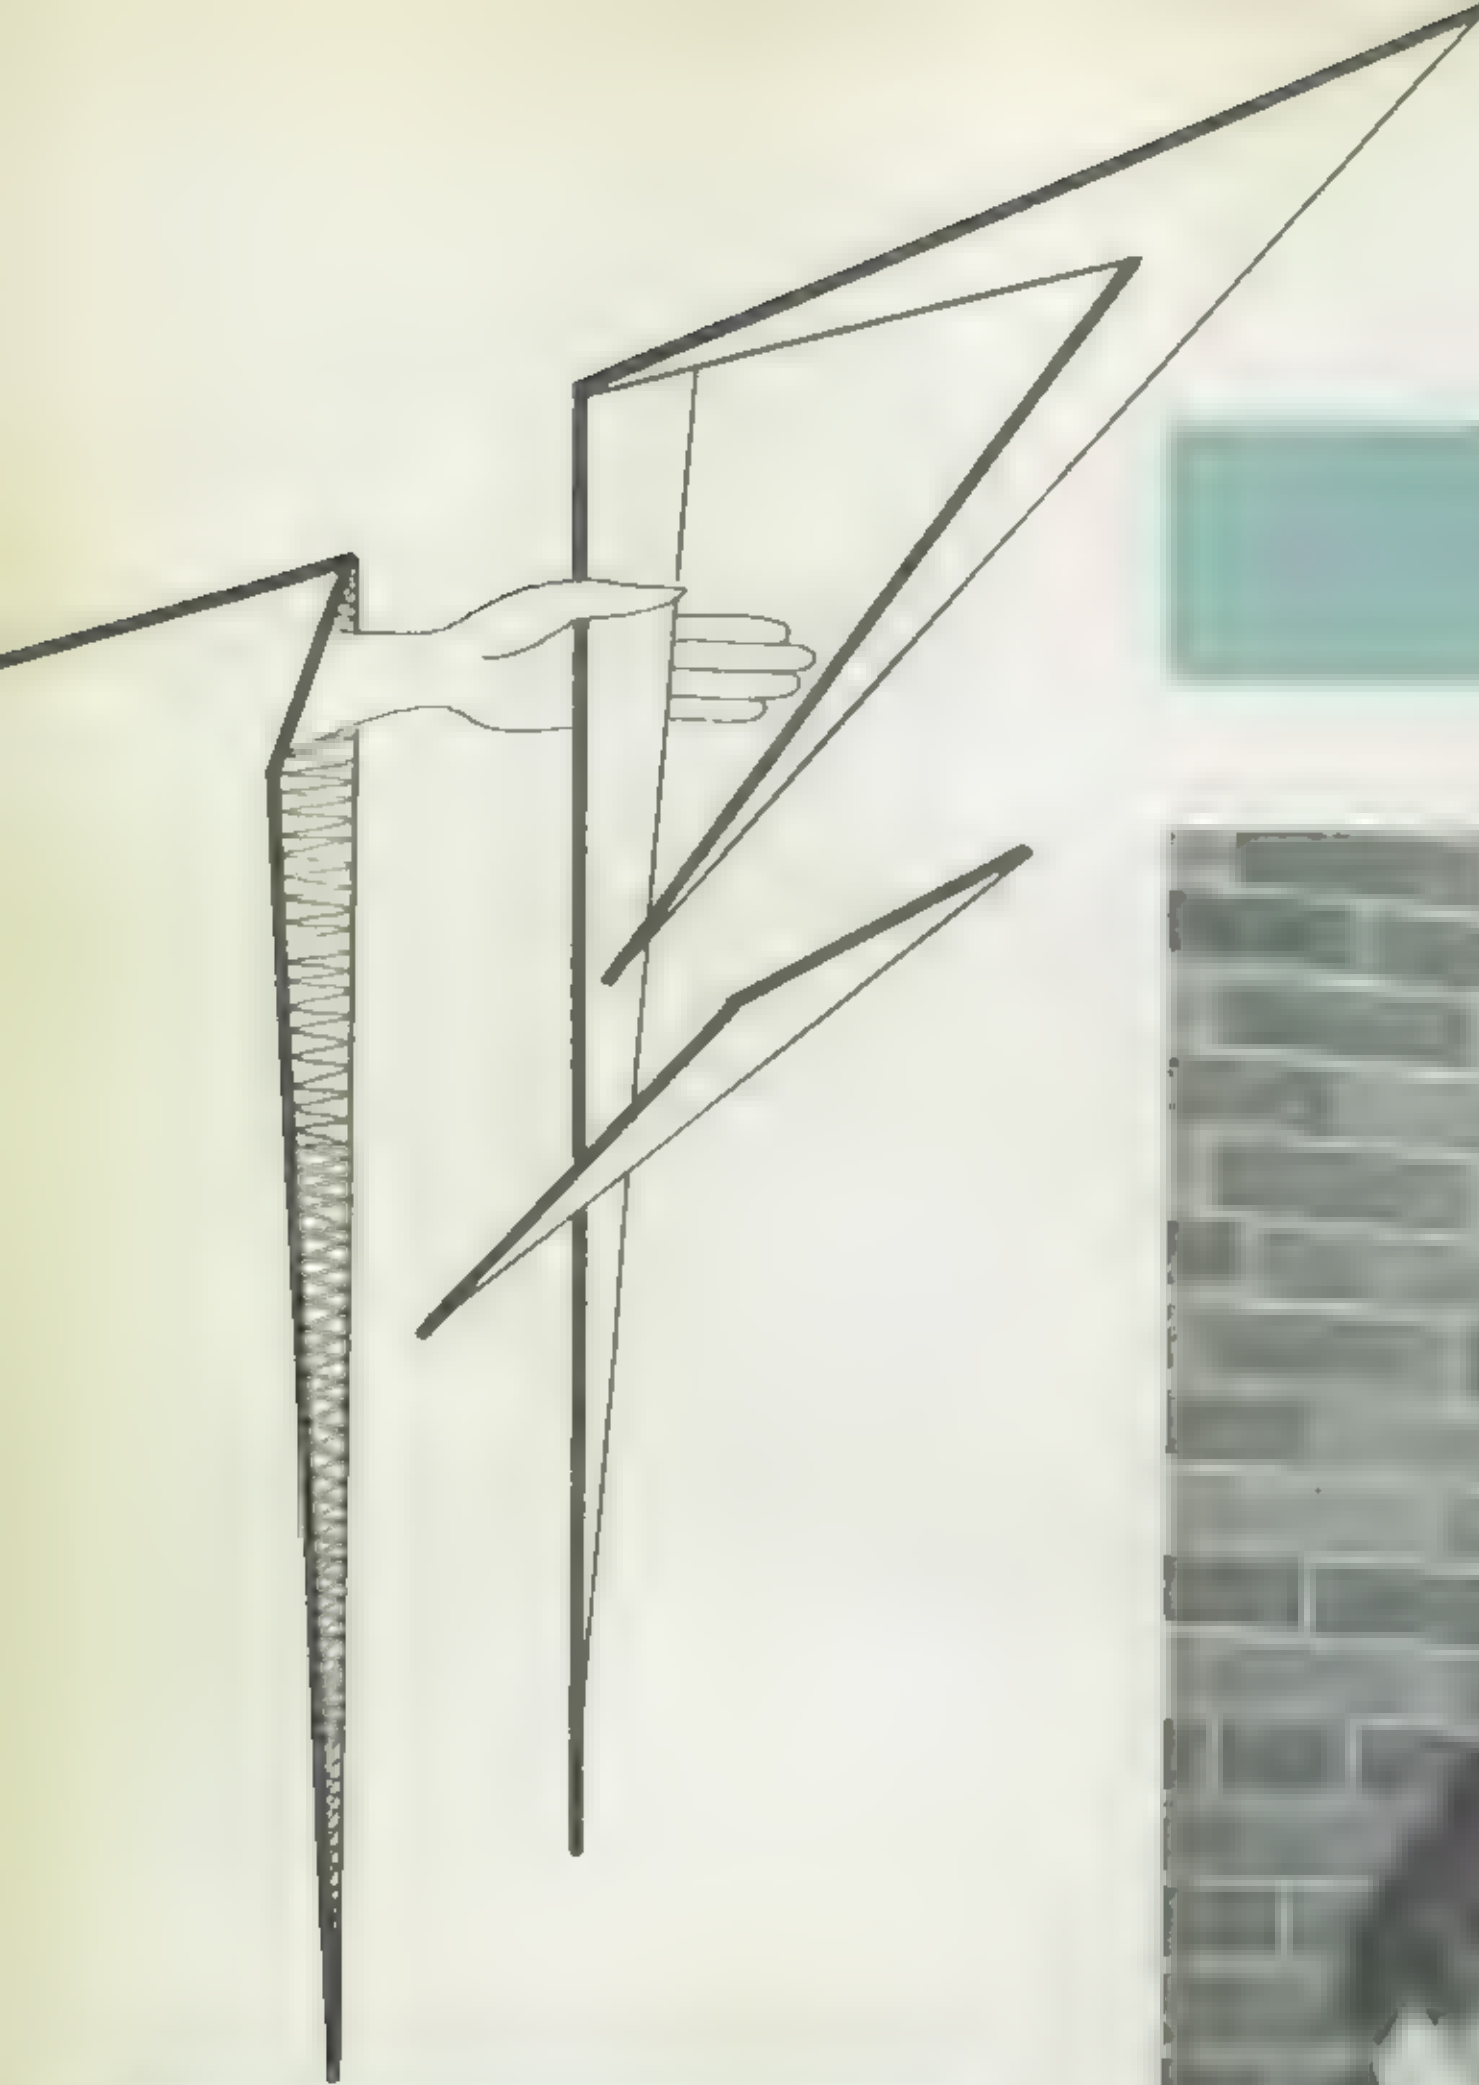

—Addison

Dressing dolls is fun for all ages. Betty Powers, Diane Halinski, Sue Muslaert, and Arlene Paszek exchange admiring glances as they dress the dolls for charity.

Creative talent is displayed by the unique novelties brought to Regina by Mrs. Jacqueline Hale. Pat Clements, Diane Kahoun, and Diane Cali are inspecting the colorful creations.

It is for unity in spirit that Regina High encourages activities, organizations, and sports. — to bring out virtue, real and tried. The height and value of true virtue consists in the facility, utility, and pleasure of its exercise; so far from difficulty, that girls, as well as women, and the innocent as well as the subtle, may make it their own; and it is by order and good conduct, and not by force, that it is to be acquired.—Montaigne.

Students Govern

I will tell you where there is power; where the dew lies upon the hills, and the rain has moistened the roots of the various plants; where the sunshine pours steadily; where the brook runs babbling along, there is a beneficent power
 —Chapin

Girls chosen for the Student Council are known for their devotion to the school to make Regina a highly reputable institution of learning.

Student Council president, Mary Posch, presides over the freshmen's first big event, their induction. After taking the pledge the freshmen were given a warm welcome into the Regina Student Body.

 Beverly Szopyak, Theo Maco,
 Donna D'Annunzio,

 and Nancy Cummings raise their glad voices in praise of their Queen and Mother, Mary.

Marked A Reginite

Few footprints of the great remain in the sand before the ever flowing tide. Yet Regina trains her students to be truly great. First they consider how they may gain the approbation of God, and, secondly, that of their own consciences, having done this, they would then willingly conciliate the good opinion of their fellow students

A new member joins Regina's family as Student Council treasurer, Joan Lazarow, pins the emblem on Ann Roberts

"The distinguishing mark of a Regina student is the emblem worn proudly on her blue and white blazer," says Jean Lafrate Jean, Student Council secretary, reminds the girls of the honor and responsibility of wearing a Regina uniform

Freshmen receive the rosary of their Queen! Sister M. Bernadette assisted by Student Council officers, Jean Lafrate and Mary Poich, presents a rosary, symbolizing the induction ceremony, to Donna Mayer while Cathy Lambertz, Maureen Kramer, Judy Blocker, Donna Goike and Kathy Szachta anxiously await their tokens

Night for Parents

The voice of parents is the voice of gods, for to their children they are heaven's lieutenants. Shakespeare Parent night gave parents an opportunity to become acquainted with their daughters' instructors and teaching techniques. Its purpose was to better inform the parents so they could more fully help their daughters.

'Well, how did you like it?'
Mrs. Pileri asks Mrs. Galasso's opinion of the parent night. Parents found their time was well spent this evening

Art includes an intellectual side!
Parents observe the art notes of their daughters. Sister M. Joanne points out an exceptionally well done book

Fatherly interest! Mr. Grismer takes an interest in Biology, thereby taking an interest in his daughter Sister M. Emmeline explains an interesting biological fact Balance sheets, work sheets, and other business forms are the topic of the senior Bookkeeping class. Sister M. Estelle briefs the parents on some of the bookkeeping procedures.

"This is the way!" The proper method of throwing a carriage is demonstrated by Sister Cecilia Ann to parents of the typing students

"Economics is the science of the production and distribution of goods and services." Sister Mary Daisita informs the "one-night students" of the value and importance of a clear and thorough knowledge of economics in all walks of life

It hits the spot! Refreshments were gladly accepted by the parents after a day (or night) of classes at Regina. Senior parents followed the schedule and received the report cards of their daughters.

Careers Ahead

In the inset, Mr. Ed. Hoban, graduate of Maryknoll Seminary, who received his masters at the University of Detroit, listens attentively to the panel discussion. Chairman, Rosemary VanSteebants, from Sienna Heights College introduces the panel members. The importance of attending a Catholic college and points concerning college requirements are discussed by Anne Schuerlok, Nazareth College, Pat O'Connor, Notre Dame University; and Mary Hoban, Marygrove College

Pamphlets, college bulletins, and first hand information are being given by various college and university representatives from throughout Michigan. Seated, Rosemary Dorr, Sienna Heights College, Phyllis Burkart, Nazareth College, Shirley Prusinski, Madonna College, Frank T. Cairns, University of Detroit; and Helen Moranty, St. Mary of the Springs College, answer many questions concerning their colleges

A city-wide audience of students planning a college career, and their parents, attended the evening's lecture on college preparations.

Applying to a college is one of the major steps in the life of a college bound high school student. Marv Jo McCormack and Sue Solosky inquire about the various types of questionnaires and college entrance forms

Pat Doolittle and Maria DeStefano search through a maze of bulletins and pamphlets for the college of their choice. There is such a variety of colleges and universities that a high school senior spends much of her time deliberating her choice

College requirements are discussed by Diane Bellack and Karen Beckley with representatives from various colleges. Frances Bianco and Janet Sommers interest themselves in the newest qualifications necessary for entrance to a college

The Easter Bunny tops the laden baskets of groceries prepared by Connie Mazza, Pat Konefke, Joan Marecki and Ann Nardona, as their student council homeroom project

Accepting flags for each homeroom from Harper Woods unit of American Legion are: K. I. Jear, S. Oberman, Y. Nowicki, C. Albrecht, K. Henze, K. Moore, J. Hartner, P. Mach, and M. Spanke

Beverly Hodakoski, and Pat Hall check attendance records during their hall guard duty, a service of the student council

Student Council Officers filling Thanksgiving baskets for the poor are: Kay Nowaske, Vice-president; Jean Iafrate, Secretary; Joan Lazarow, Treasurer and Mary Posch, President

Conducting the Student Council Meeting are officers: K. Nowaske, J. Lazarow, J. Iafrate and M. Posch. Members seen here are: K. Williams, M. Feldmann, K. Kelly, M. Laquerre, M. A. Kucab, C. Henn, C. Students Govern

The Student Council promotes good school relationships by encouraging habits of citizenship, service, scholarship, and character among the students of Regina High Proudly reviewing their daughter's winning science project, Shirley Schippert's parents are given first hand information by Shirley herself. Her exhibit won prizes at Regina and at the Detroit Metropolitan Science Fair.

Louise Chlebnik, Diane Dandy, Pat Mach, and Shirley Schippert were all prize winners for their exhibits at the Detroit Metropolitan Science Fair. Louise and Diane examine the certificates received while Pat studies the bone formation of chicken embryos for which Shirley received the plaque which she holds. She was one of the top 10 winners at the fair

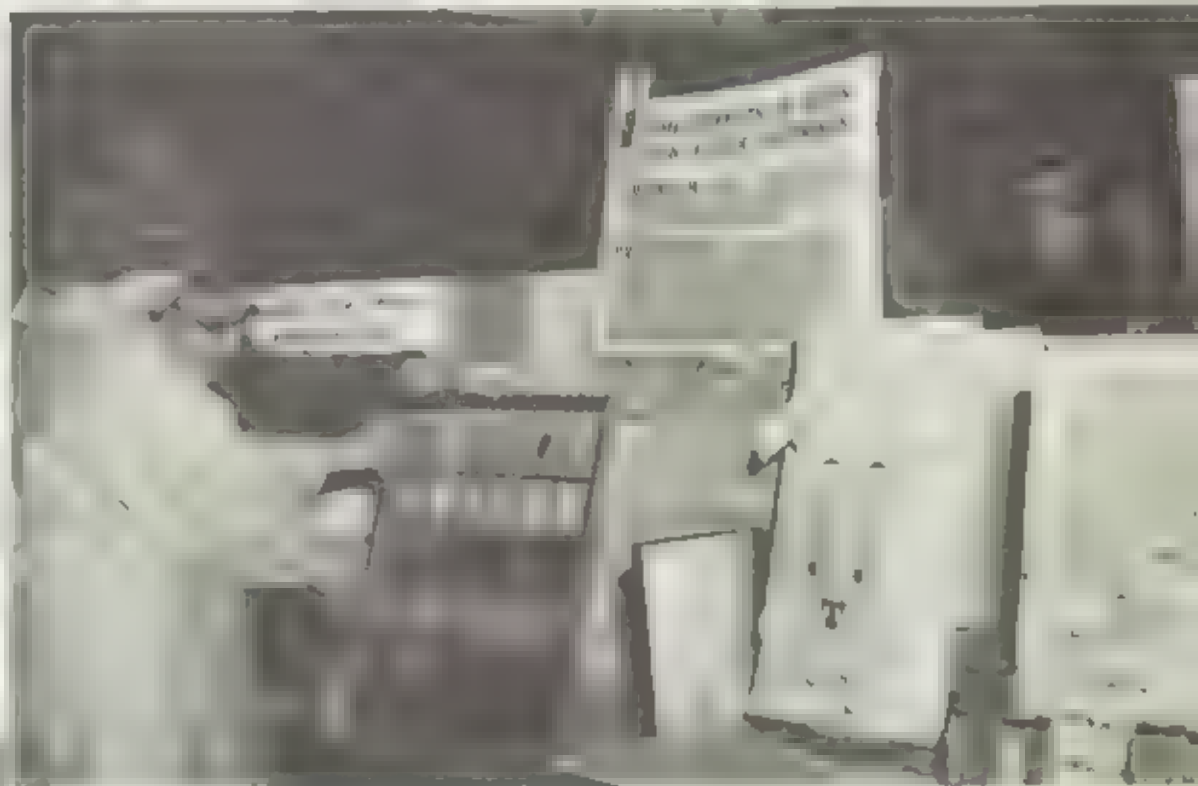

Scientists at Regina unite hard work and many hours into producing the annual science fair, but as the girls exclaimed "It was worth every minute of it."

Science Fair Evokes Hidden Talents

The strength of all sciences, which consists in their harmony, each supporting the other, is as the strength of a fagot in the hand; for were it not better for a man in a dim room to set up one great light than to go about with a small watch-candle into every corner? Sciences flourish best in the neighborhood of each other.—Bacon

Mary Clare Limbert and Pat Doolittle gather much scientific knowledge as they examine the varied projects at the Regina Science Fair. This is Pat's winning project on acid tests

◀ A wealth of educational surprises was received by all who attended the second annual science fair at Regina. Parents, teachers and girls were amazed at the many promising Madame Curies exhibiting their scientific talents.

Knowing this, Regina wants to educate her daughters spiritually as well as scholastically, physically and socially. A retreat provides Reginites with a wonderful opportunity to improve their spiritual life

Revs. Jerome and Roy relax and discuss their work, hoping to help each other improve the retreat.

To perfect their spiritual retreat, these girls prepare themselves for confession while awaiting their turn

Thankful for all their blessings, especially during the retreat, these students express their gratitude with a silent prayer after Holy Communion

A Perspective on Life--

Power has a right to the word "unfathomable." It is in hours of appearances which words cannot express -- of that interior speech which we do not articulate, even when we employ it.--Madame Swetchine

Retreat master, Father Roy, begins each conference with a prayer to the Blessed Virgin

"May God's blessing be with you." An abundance of graces and blessings are earned by each Reginite at this year's spiritual retreat

Information of Christ's life and teachings is gained through reading and personal meditation as is being done by Janet Sommers, Joan Gornick, and Joanne Licatovich

The Bread of Life is received into the hearts and souls of the entire student body during retreat Masses. Father Roy, O.F.M., distributes the Holy Eucharist.

The Very Rev. F. Frechette, S.M., extends a blessing over the Freshmen and their parents during the Mass which preceded the Freshmen Breakfast.

The congregation gives its undivided attention to Fr. Frechette, speaker during Sunday Mass at Regina.

Spiritual and Cultural Life Interests Parents

Participating in their daughter's activities at the school, whether spiritual, social, or cultural, parents display an active interest in the full development of their child's life. This interest is reflected in the student's wholesome attitude towards school.

Students and parents enjoy a hearty breakfast as well as a chance to acquaint themselves with new friends.

The parents of the Seniors begin their Sunday at Regina with the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass.

Sceptre News Rolls

In writing a newspaper, it is as with thoughts. He who thinks much says but little in proportion to his thoughts. He selects that language which will convey his ideas in the most explicit and direct manner. A pure style in writing results from the rejection of everything superfluous.

Junior Varsity:

Basketball Lures Reginities

We did not make the world but are a part of it. We shall find that it abounds with those who are too dull to be employed and those who strive to live in harmony with others. Team play helps us achieve the latter ideal.

Grace, speed, and alertness are exemplified by Christine Guebba in her high jump.

All towards one goal — the basket. Facing the camera are: Carol Maiorana, Carol Brownell, Rosemary Angott, and Barbara Staskowski.

Football Fans

By looking into physical causes our minds are opened and enlarged, and in this pursuit, whether we win or lose the game, the attempt is certainly of service. - Burke.

Regina girls cheer at Notre Dame games as if they were their own. Participation as football rooters, queens, or at the dance, highlights the season.

Attendants and their queen accompanied by their male escorts grace Notre Dame's football field. Grace Hanna, Mary Posch, Ann Marie Zamon, queen, and Mary Ann Albrecht.

Regina girls help to crowd the stands and root as loudly as they can for their favorite school.

To ride in one of the floats is a coveted honor. Grace Hanna is privileged to ride as attendant to the queen.

Activities culminate in a dance to celebrate the homecoming of the team.

Homecoming Queen Is Crowned

Royalty receives the scepter! After receiving the attire of a queen — the crown, the cape, the scepter — Ann Marie Zamon is well equipped to reign over the festivities of the evening

Rings Symbolize Loyalty

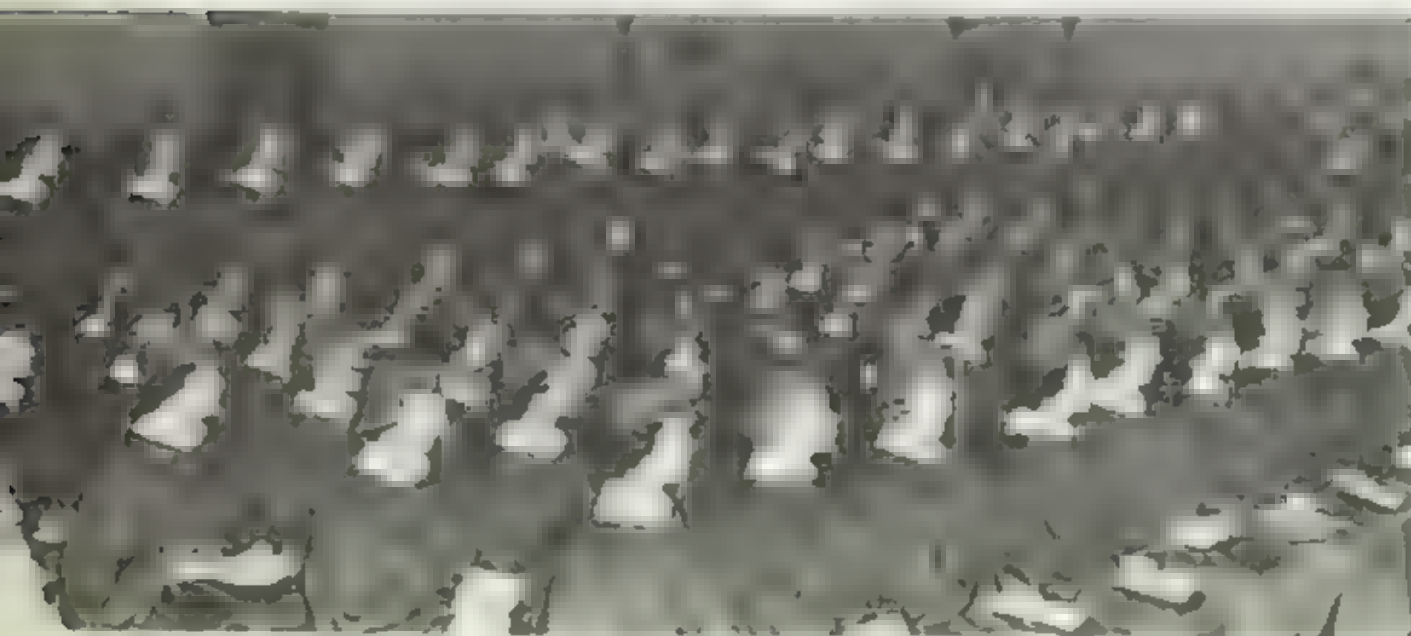

The ring is a symbol of the amount of loyalty one feels to the school. It is not a figure of the joy which comes from without that is false, precarious, and short, like flowers that are sweet for a season but soon wither. The ring must be a reminder of the joys that come from within like smelling the rose on the tree, it is more sweet and fair, it is lasting and immortal.

Our rings become sacramentals.
Reverend W. Patron aids Reverend F. Frechette as he blesses the symbols of our loyalty to Regina.

It's not graduation! It's Senior Ring Night. Row after row, the proud seniors march up to the stage to receive their school rings.

With rapt attention, dignified seniors follow the impressive ceremony in solemn participation.

"From ancient civilization to modern times the trend continues. Rings are as popular today as they were thousands of years ago." Very Rev. P. C. Frechette of Notre Dame gives enlightening highlights during his address as to their origin and use.

Harvest Holiday

The plump swain at evening bringing home an abundance of sunshine bound in sheaves. —Lowell

Standing in close company with Eddie Casper's music-makers, Kay Nowaske and Barb Staskowski exchange a bouquet of white carnations.

Garlands of white carnations, representative of the class of '62, are presented in loving tribute to the Blessed Mother by Sue Schwenter, Junior Class secretary, and Pat Hergenroether.

Dancing amid autumn leaves and corn stalks, Pam Gravel, Vicki Andrews, and their escorts agree that Fall is one of the best seasons of the year for a dance.

Entertaining music — exciting moments — enchanting memories. A night of fun and frolic is shared at Regina's annual Harvest Holiday Dance sponsored by the Junior Class.

Blue Valentine Dance

Love is not an illusion, an impulse, a weakness, or an accident; it is a great mystery and a great necessity, lying at the foundation of human existence, morality, and happiness — mysterious, universal, inevitable. —Martineau

The sweet strains of Larry Egan's orchestra provide a dreamy atmosphere for celebrating Valentine's Day. The Blue Valentine Dance is a welcome affair as the last dance before Lent his sphere melody, flowing in wild native tones, and rich symphonies, through all our hearts, and modulates and divinely leads them. —Carlyle

Royalty Reigns with Charm

Every individual nature has its own beauty. One is struck with the riches of nature, when he hears so many new tones, all musical, sees in each person original manners which have a proper and peculiar charm, and reads new expression of face. Nature has laid for each the foundations of a divine building, if the soul will build thereon. —Emerson

Prom in Hawaiian Mood

Happiness is that single and glorious thing which is the very light and sun of the whole animated universe; and where she is not, it were better that nothing should be. Without her, wisdom is but a shadow and virtue a name; she is their sovereign mistress. —Colton

The Juniors and Seniors bring the year to a close with their prom. Singing "Aloha-Oe (Fond Farewell)" to another school year, they dance to the music of Bob Du Rant and his orchestra.

Formal gowns and white dinner jackets combined to make everyone feel extra special. Homework and tests easily forgotten, everyone dances under the soft oriental lights.

While a man is stringing a harp, he tries the strings, not for music but for construction. When it is finished, it shall be played for melodies. God is fashioning the human heart for future joy. He only sounds a string here and there to see how far his work has progressed. —Beecher

A few of the Seniors have made up their minds, or rather God had given these a special call to the religious life. Examining the contents of a suitcase are Kathleen Steiner, Patricia Malane, Beverly White, Josephine Galasso, and Carol Brussee.

The goals for which we strive are the same and that is wherein unity in practice is contained. The means may differ somewhat but the grand difficulty is to feel the reality of both worlds, so as to give each its due place in our thoughts and feelings, to keep our mind's eye and our heart's eye ever fixed on the land of promise, without looking away from the road along which we are to travel toward it

Touring the building in anticipation of entering Regina are girls from neighboring parishes. Guides for the occasion are Barbara Ennis and Mary Jo Figer

Action is Eloquence

The activity of the young is like that of rail cars in motion, — they tear along with noise and turmoil, and leave peace behind them. Serenity is unknown to the young for they have a job to do. The quietest nooks invaded by them ring, after they leave, with reverberations of their vivacity.

Passing of time is not their only problem as Freshmen satisfy their desire for activity by making octopi of yarn for mission children thus donating their talents towards something useful. Seen here are: C. Humphrey, C. Czarnecki, M. Campbell, G. Jeziorowski, and C. Gnebba.

The joy of giving is exemplified when students fill baskets of grocery for the needy. Decorating the basket are: Jean Giammaria, Christine Bennett, and Christine Gnebba.

"There's A Girl I'd Like To Know"

"She has so much poise and confidence—I'll bet she works for the telephone company. Those girls are so attractive and have such friendly, pleasant manners."

They're talking about Lucy, who started working for Michigan Bell right out of high school. She was trained by friendly, understanding supervisors and today she's proud of her work; enjoys a fine salary, regular wage increases, and many new friends.

Lucy was delighted from the very first by the clean, pleasant surroundings, by the regularly scheduled mid-morning and midafternoon "breaks" for relaxing in comfortable lounge rooms, and by the opportunities for advancement.

Isn't that kind of job worth going after? Then why not get in touch with us—perhaps there's a telephone job for you. We'll be happy to talk with you about the interesting work at Michigan Bell.

going to live better than  ever before ... electrically!

Life's Journey

Detroit Edison

You, today's graduate, are entering an exciting new era where you will live better than any generation has ever lived before—the era of all-electric living.

Your all-electric home for example, thanks to time-saving electric equipment and appliances, will allow you and your family more time to enjoy life together.

Your job will be smoother too. Electricity, in everything from office equipment to heavy machinery, will lighten your work—make it more enjoyable.

If you decide on further education, your field of study may well be related to electricity. Perhaps someday, as a scientist or technician, you will even lend your knowledge to further mold the all-electric world of tomorrow.

But wherever the future finds you, whatever your place in life, electricity will be there to help you live better than ever before—live better electrically.

Regina Mundi, Our peerless Queen,
We thee proclaim.
Our hearts aglow with filial love,
we tender thee.
Thou the dispenser of heavenly grace
in this domain.
In sweet accord united all. We honor thee.
With faith and courage thy crown defending Truth and justice in thy realm extending
The blue and white thy colors on high proudly displaying.
Our youthful hearts thy glory loudly
proclaiming,
Alma Mater, Queen and Mother, eternal be thy name.

NEED MONEY FOR COLLEGE?

As a loan to your parent, guardian or sponsor, National Bank of Detroit will advance money to the accredited college of your choice. The loan covers all your major expenses for up to four years, including tuition, room, board, books—even lab fees. Arrangements can also be made for special expenses. And your entire loan can be protected by life insurance. For details call WO 5 6000 and ask for "College Plan."
